Annex B Data sources for weighting and weight factors

The weight factors for respondents are calculated as the Internet using population share divided by the sample share per gender, age group and country. The sample share per gender and age group in a specific country is calculated as the share of the number of persons that responded to the questionnaire in the total number of respondents per country. The Internet using population share per gender and age group in a specific country is calculated as the number of Internet using people per gender and age group divided by the total number of Internet using people aged between 14 and 74.

Tabel B.1 summarizes the sources that were used to determine the Internet using population share per gender and age group. Tables B.2-B.5 present the data on the Internet use in the various countries. The data suggests that age is the determining factor for Internet use, while gender differences are negligible.

As can be seen from Table B.2-B.5, not every countries uses the same age cohorts for internet use, which is why the following assumptions were made:

- Europe and Canada Internet use(14~15 years) = Internet use(16~24 years)
- Brazil Internet use(14~15 years) = Internet use(10~15 years)
- Indonesia Internet use(14~24 years) = Internet use(10~24 years)
- Hong Kong and Thailand Internet use(14~24 years) = Internet use(15~24 years)
- Japan Internet use(14~17 years) = Internet use(13~19 years)
- Europe Internet use(65~74 years) = Internet use(64~74 years)
- Brazil Internet use(60~74 years) = Internet use(60~above)
- Canada and Hong Kong Internet use(65~74 years) = Internet use(65~above)
- Thailand Internet use(50~74 years) = Internet use(50~above)
- Indonesia Internet use(55~74 years) = Internet use(55~above)

The resulting weighting factors are presented in Tables B.6-B.8.
